Cotton Hill Studios, Inc. for Elaine Houston

(Albany, NY) Cotton Hill Studios, Inc., of Albany, working in conjunction with News Channel 13 News Anchor/Education Reporter Elaine Houston completed the audio adaptation of her book “The Friendships Between Women”.

The book, launched in early 2004 consists of letters Houston collected from women across the country. The letters focus on how each of them got through a difficult time in their lives. Houston’s goal was to have a selection of the women from the book read their own letters. Aaron Scher, Associate Engineer at Cotton Hill Studios, Inc. engineered the project.

Proceeds from the book and audio adaptation go to benefit women living in the Eastern Democratic Republic of Congo in Africa. Through the International Rescue Committee in NYC (www.theirc.org) the monies collected will go towards food and medicine for women.

Houston’s books can be found regionally at Borders, I Love Books, The Book House, The Book Mark, The Open Door or through www.boydprinting.com or www.elainehouston.com.
